Decree For George W. Henry, Jr., Age 6, Who Was Injured

HEINRICH DEFENDANT

Clarence Cochran, Tinicum, Named In a Four-Count Case

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 26—A Langhorne RD 3 minor received $233 in his own right in a settlement made in court. Two other actions were filed in court, one in which a Tinicum township motorist is being sued for $15,317 and another in which a Quakertown lumber firm is being sued for $324.

Following a hearing and petition to compromise, Judge Edward G. Biester signed a decree in which George W. Henry, Jr., 6, son of George W. Henry and Mary Henry, will receive $233 in his own right for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Judge Biester's decree permitted $42 for a Nazareth Hospital bill and $25 for a doctor's fee. The defendant in the action in trespass was John Heinrich, Trevese Heights, Langhorne, RD 1. The accident took place May 15, when Carl Tressell was driving the defendant's car, on the Lincoln Highway, near Trevese. The total settlement was for $390.

Clarence Cochran, Tinicum twp., has been named the defendant in a four count (John L. Dora, Florence and Elaine Quinby) Upper Black Eddy, action in trespass claiming $15,317.70.

The accident happened Oct. 18, 1948, near Riegelsville, and the four plaintiffs' individual claims are as follows: John L. Quinby, $317.70; Dora, Florence and Elaine each $5,000.

Louis Prince and Jacob Rosner, trading as Triangle Lumber Company, Station rd., Quakertown, have been named the defendants in an $324.71 action in trespass suit by Samuel Miller and Herbert Miller, trading as Miller Hardware Company, 420 Commerce st., Phila. The actions grow out of the purchase of merchandise in April, 1949.

Christmas Plans Laid By Estates Auxiliary

The Fleeting Estates Women's Auxiliary met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Oswald Anderson. After the secretary's and treasurer's reports were given, information was given concerning the "Pig in a Basket" and its whereabouts. It was decided to have the "Pig" returned before the December meeting, at which time it would be opened and its contents disclosed.

A dessert card party was planned for Monday afternoon, November 14th, at the home of Mrs. Walter Cooper.

The group was reminded that Girl Scout Week ends this Saturday and that support was requested in the Scout Drive.

The Christmas Eve party for the children of Fleeting Estates was then brought up. A quick reckoning gave the number of children of age to attend such a party here as 115. The Auxiliary voted to provide a gift for each child who will be by the Community Christmas Tree when Santa Claus arrives the night of December 24, and to provide a new suit for Santa so he'll be able to distribute the gifts in style.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. William Patterson.

After the meeting, refreshments were served, including crab patties, cheese sticks, chocolate cream pie, cake, coffee and tea.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

There is no reason for parents to refrain from giving their children sex education, declared Dr. Theodore J. Henderson, Ambler, before 35 persons at the meeting of Warrington Junior Women's Club at the home of Mrs. William Schade, Warrington, Friday evening.

Declaring that the teaching of sex is receiving much publicity, Dr. Henderson said the child should be taught as it grows and as its capacity to grasp the facts develops.

The speaker recommended four periods for this type of instruction, pre-school, grammar school, junior high school and college. Dr. Henderson recommended that the child be taught in junior high school in connection with the teaching of biology and general science.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Marion Brenig, Mrs. William R. Bloom, Mrs. William F. Laeckel and Mrs. David Sarge.

During the business session Mrs. Sarge resigned as art chairman, and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, formerly a member of the Frankford club, was named chairman.

In cooperation with Sellersville National Bank, Sellersville's leading industries observed Pennsylvania Week in a practical manner by displaying products of industry in the lobby of banking house. Hundreds of persons inspected the display.

Although the variety of industrial products has not been great, the articles made in that borough go to the four corners of the earth. One of the products most widely distributed comes from the production lines of one of the town's newest industries, Schulermerich Electronics, Inc.

Although the firm cannot display its complete line of electronically reproduced bell tones, it had automatic reproduction set in operation at the bank. These electronic chimes, something comparatively new, are being distributed.

BUCKS COUNTY ELECTION

CONTROLLER

There is one big reason why the Republican Party has been able to make its long and successful record in handling of Bucks County affairs.

That reason is the exceptional success of the Republicans in finding men of unusual ability and background to fill the county positions.

One of the seven county offices to be filled next November 8 is the highly important post of county controller.

There is no possible room to debate the question of whether the Republicans have the best candidate for this position, judged either in the field of qualifications or of experience.

The Republican nominee is the only man in the county who has had experience with this job, and his record there is so outstanding that it has attracted attention throughout the state.

This nominee is the present Controller, Howard G. Krupp, who has held the position since it was created in 1941, when the increasing population moved this county up from a sixth class to a fifth class county.

A County Controller is more than a bookkeeper, although keeping the county's books and records in order is a large part of his duties. He is a sort of watchdog of the county treasury—the man who sees that the expenditures are sound and proper, as well as being correctly accounted for.

When the position was to be filled in 1941, this meant that the Republican Party had to find a man who had all the necessary training, and also one with tact and firmness enough to get along with the other county officials while protecting the county's financial interests.

Bucks County government has grown into what is now almost a two-million-dollar-a-year business, and the Controller is the man who has the responsibility of keeping it financially in order.

As Controller, Mr. Krupp has introduced several policies which are of great importance to the citizens of the county. One is the accumulation of a cash balance in the county's possession to meet emergencies, and to prevent the need for short-term borrowing. This cash balance was $157,536.69 at the beginning of this year, and is still growing. The balance on hand in 1940 was only $9,520.60.

YARDLEY MILL SOLD; HAS LONG HISTORY

Old Landmark Sold Which Was Deeded By William Penn

HISTORY IS GIVEN

YARDLEY, Oct. 26—The Yardley Mill has been sold by J. Augustus Cadwallader, of the Yardley Morrisville Road to the Pine Run Farm Supply Company, of Doylestown. The mill is a landmark here and was erected long before the Revolutionary War.

The mill property, situated off North Main Street along Brook Creek, was the last of the original tract which William Penn deeded to Thomas Yardley in 1682. It had been in the Yardley and Cadwallader families up to last October 17 when the transfer to the Pine Run Company was effected.

The tract which Yardley received from William Penn ran about a mile along the river, from the present location of the Reading Railroad bridge over the Delaware, to the present upper limits of the borough of Yardley. It also extended three miles back from the river.

Thomas Yardley, for whom the town was named, built a grist and saw mill along the creek on the site of the present mill and there sawed up the logs which went into the building of many of the pioneer settlers' homes, and also ground up the settlers' grain into flour. Yardley also operated a ferry across the Delaware River.

Yardley used the creek for water power and dammed it upstream in the vicinity of the present site of

THE MORE THE SAFER

Senator McMahon, head of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, didn't answer when reporters asked him if the planned speed-up of this country's nuclear energy program is the result of the recent report that an "atomic explosion" took place in Russia not long ago. All he would say was that this "major expansion effort" represents an "acceleration of planned production that has been in the planning stage since last spring."

But the explanation given, though it may be entirely accurate as far as it goes, doesn't pretend to be complete. While the additional production may have been planned, chances are the plans would have stayed on the shelf but for that detonation in Soviet territory.

The blueprints have been hauled out, hastily examined, and approved—at the cost of $300,000-000 in expenditures for new plant and general development—because those in charge feel the situation has changed.

This move seems to be a switch on the administration's past assertions that there was no need to alter American policy merely because the Russians apparently have succeeded in making an atomic bomb. The nation was told that this contingency had been foreseen and the necessary steps to meet it had been prepared in advance. The legislation suddenly brought in by Senator McMahon reflects some perturbation in official quarters—not to say agitation.

This country's stockpile of atomic weapons may be relatively large when measured against any Russia may have. It may be, as some experts say, that more bombs are not especially valuable after a certain "critical" supply has been built up. The added expense is surely unwelcome. Nevertheless, the new circumstances being what they are, maximum effort is necessary. So the President and his advisers think, at any rate.

In a Montana hospital a patient was given a transfusion of his own blood. That seems to be the theory back of the Truman administration's policies, only it uses money.

Federal financial operations will eventually reach trillions, according to one forecaster. If China could do it, why not the U. S.?

Automobiles of the future will be smaller, it is again predicted. If they make them any lower, flat heads, as well as hatless ones, may become the vogue.

Reports from London indicate that the Labor government has been unable to entice the bluebirds back to the White Cliffs of Dover.

Conditions in Washington are back to normal. The public debt is up to $255,000,000,000 for the first time since last February.

Another policy has to do with outstanding taxes. When Mr. Krupp came into office, these had been growing for several years, and stood at $218,596.05 in 1940. Since the controller's office was set up, this has been more than cut in half.

A third policy carried forward under Mr. Krupp has to do with the bonded debt. Mr. Krupp has emphasized the point that the cost of borrowing money is a heavy burden on the taxpayers, and has put the county business as completely as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis. The outstanding debt has been cut down nearly to the vanishing point—all remaining bonds ($32,000) could be retired immediately out of the cash on hand and the sinking fund, if these bonds were callable. They cannot be paid off, under the law, until their maturity date, March 1, 1952.

The immense savings possible by pay-as-you-go finances as compared with loans can be seen by referring to last year's debt charges (interest plus repayment of principal) in some other fifth class counties: Mercer, $259,737; Blair, $218,445; Northumberland, $133,686; BUCKS, $1440.

Results of this sort entice Mr. Krupp to your full and enthusiastic support for re-election. The way to support him is to go to the polls on November 8, and vote straight Republican.

When you receive your ballot, look for the word Republican in heavy black type, and put a cross after it, thus:

REPUBLICAN

Sixty Attend October Meeting, Maple Shade

Most of the time for the October program, Maple Shade Parent-Teacher Association, last evening, was devoted to business. Sixty members gathered in Maple Shade school, with Mrs. R. C. Cary, president, calling upon Mrs. Floyd Peters for minutes of the last meeting; and Mrs. Walter Crawford for the treasurer's report. The latter told of the success of the fall festival.

First Steps in Reading to a Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

PLEASE let me tell you a good way of beginning to read to the baby. Soon after the infant's birth often speak very gently and tenderly to him as you care for him. In his very early months sing lullabies to him and repeat with lots of rhythm some nursery rhymes, the same ones over and over again. After he is about a year of age try some finger plays on him. Keep trying him with such from time to time but be careful that he is not over-excited by them once he begins to enjoy them.

As soon as he begins to look at pictures talk to him about them and answer his questions (which at first may be only grunts or gestures). Don't press him to look and listen. Let him be wholly free. Remove the picture pages as soon as his interest lags. Try him later. Do so again and again.

In a Magazine

Some of the pictures he first is attracted to may be in a magazine he likes to leaf through. Also expose him to a lovely book which has illustrated nursery rhymes or a sentence or two in prose under each picture. As you talk to him then about the pictures you will be reading to him before he knows you are. He will gradually connect what you read with the related picture. Sometimes you will read only a very small portion connected with each picture but you will try to get him to wait a bit before you turn the page or let him do so.

If he insists on looking rapidly through the book without pausing to hear you read, or lags in interest, close the book and put it away. As it is a lovely book you won't leave it with him for some weeks or months. Gradually he will grow fonder of each picture, look at it longer and therefore listen longer. (My bulletin, "Books from which to read to the baby and young child" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper. This bulletin gives seventeen reasons for reading early to the baby and reading stories to him rather than telling them.)

Illustrated Story

When you begin to read to the baby from an illustrated story which is much longer than a nursery rhyme he might lose interest before you have read more than a few sentences. I tested this matter with one of my grandchildren when he was 13 months of age, using "Henny Penny." He sat beside me as I read and he looked at the first picture. At the end of the third sentence he slid down and went to his toys. I made no comment but put the book away. Next evening I began to read from the same story. He did not leave until I had read nearly all of the first page, about seven sentences. I always started at the beginning. As he grew more familiar with the picture and the first sentences they waxed more interesting to him. On the fourth evening he listened raptly to the end of the story. On successive evenings he begged me to read the whole story. It was not many weeks before he was listening avidly to a number of stories, though he chose the most familiar ones over and over again. Then it was not a problem for us to get him to listen to a story but for him to find a person often enough to read to him. More on this tomorrow.

Cook Pot-Roast, Swiss Steak, Pork Chops All Same Way—Braise

Swiss steak, pot-roast, fricassee—these terms suggest different meat dishes, but they are all prepared by the same moist heat method—braising, according to Reba Staggs, widely-known food expert.

Best cooked by braising are the less tender cuts of beef; pork chops and steaks which must be slowly cooked to bring out their rich flavor; and veal steaks and chops because of their lack of fat. Whether cooked on top of the range or in the oven, this slow moist heat cooking results in tender, juicy meat that is richly browned with a well-developed flavor and aroma.

The first step in braising is browning the meat in its own or a small amount of added fat. For a richer color and added flavor, the meat may be dredged in seasoned flour before browning. When completely browned, a small amount of liquid is added if desired, the pan is covered and the meat allowed to cook slowly until done. The liquid may be water, milk, cream, diluted vinegar, meat stock, fruit or vegetable juice. Herbs, spices and vegetables may be cooked with the meat to add flavor and variety.

In serving, the meat sauce is an important part because it not only contains the good meat flavor, but contains meat food value as well. The rich drippings are often served over the meat or they may be made into a delicious gravy to be served separately.

"Misleading Statements," Liquor Industry, Hit

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held its monthly meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Serrill Douglass, 601 Radcliffe street. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. William Hakes. The treasurer's report was given by Miss Jane Rogers. Reports of committees were heard.

Devotions and the program were in charge of Mrs. Harry T. Neher. A paper was presented which had been prepared by the Research Council of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union to disprove the alleged misleading statements the liquor industry has made to prove the "great economic benefits" of the liquor trade in the United States since repeal of the 18th Amendment.

It was pointed out by the reader: "The per capita cost of alcoholic beverages rose from $16.46 in 1934 to $66.93 in 1947, a total of over a billion gallons of beer, wines and distilled liquors being consumed, using in 1947 over ten billion pounds of grain, fruits, sugars and syrups and molasses, which could have been used to feed hungry people.

"The waste involved does not include merely money and foodstuffs, but the large expenditure of money for alcoholic beverages means a loss of eight billion dollars from legitimate retail trade in necessities and wholesome luxuries, from expenditures for education, recreation, religion and other cultural purposes.

"According to J. Edgar Hoover, of the F. B. I., 'The cost to the United States in 1940 for its crime bill was $15,000,000,000.' The proportion of this large cost caused by liquor-bred crimes is variously estimated at from 10% to 50%.

"The United States Health Department in 1942 estimated that there were in the United States over 300,000 mental patients, alcohol being a serious factor in bringing about these cases, 10% of all serious insanities being directly traceable to alcohol.

"According to the scientific findings of the Yale School of Alcoholism Studies, there are 750,000 known alcoholics in the United States, estimating an aggregate loss of a trillion and a half of dollars in lost earning capacity per year.

"These startling and self-revealing facts are proof of the great waste in materials and human energies that are a direct result of the so-called 'benefits' of the liquor trade."

Service Clubs Hold Annual Session at Burlington

BURLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 26—

Bristol and Burlington service clubs met in St. Mary's Guild Hall here last evening for the annual get-together in celebration of the opening of the bridge connecting the two communities.

More than 150 members of the five clubs, Bristol Rotary, Bristol Exchange, Burlington Kiwanis, Burlington Young Men's Club, and Burlington Lions, were on hand when New Jersey Judge Lester A. Drenk praised the increased opportunities for service and fellowship of the peoples of Bristol and Burlington since the opening of the Bristol-Burlington Bridge in 1931.

Warning that we are drifting towards Socialism in this country, Judge Drenk said, "every piece of legislation England adopts is adopted 20 to 25 years later in this country." He charged that we cannot have democracy by default, and urged that all, particularly service clubs, must do their part to maintain our way of life.

In addition to the service clubs of Bristol and Burlington there was a delegation of Trenton Kiwanians on hand. The host club was the Burlington Kiwanis Club, with Harry Anderson in charge of the meeting, and Jerry Gleason the master of ceremonies.

Remarks were made by Ethan Reeve, president of the Kiwanis Club; Frank Rigg, president of the Young Men's Club; John Conroy, president of the Lions Club; Budd Fleming, president of the Bristol Exchange Club; William Begley, president of the Bristol Rotary Club; and Burlington Mayor Richard P. Hughes who extended Burlington's greetings and welcome to the visiting clubs.

Besides singing, a group quartette from the Bristol Rotary Club, composed of Fred Herrmann, H. Crocker, Lester Thorne and Otto Grupp, Jr., entertained the assembly. Dr. George T. Fox (Bristol Exchange); Harold Phillips (Burlington Kiwanis); and Fred Herrmann (Bristol Rotary) also sang solos.

The Yardley Cold Bleachery plant, Water rights for the mill were established by deed as early as 1797.

Yardley first had a home built of logs but in 1728 built a stone house which is still standing along the lake in the center of the town. The present stone mill property was erected in 1769. The main building is 40 by 60 feet and the grain storage building 23 by 40 feet.

The mill was burned out in 1901 and remained idle for a year while reconstruction was going on. At that time, two additional floors were added to the original two-story building. The two upper stories were built of sheet iron.

At the same time more modern milling machinery was installed.

By that time, however, the mill was using water from the Pennsylvania Canal for power rather than the creek water.

Through the years the Yardley Mill became known far and wide. Its flour, under the brand name, Keystone Flour, was used widely in the Trenton area by the Trenton and Exton Cracker Companies, and by many pretzel and pie bakers. Much of the flour was exported to Central and South America. At one time, the mill was using 1,000 bushels of wheat a day, purchasing its wheat from farms in Princeton, Pennington and in many sections of Bucks County.

In 1936, the canal was washed out by the high waters of the Delaware, caused by a prolonged period of heavy rain and it was decided then to abandon flour milling. Since that time, the mill has ground up feed grain for farmers and manufactured mash and other formula feeds for cattle and poultry.

Thomas Yardley, the original settler, had eight sons. For each of them he built a stone house and deeded them a tract of ground. The houses are still standing today.

Through marriage the Yardley and Cadwallader families have been related for generations and the two family names have been intertwined almost from the start of the settlement. T. Sidney Cadwallader operated the Yardley Mill property for 50 years and he turned it over to his son, Algonzo S. Cadwallader in 1905.

The later, who is now secretary of the Bucks County Contributionship at Morrisville, operated the mill until 1934.

J. Augustus Cadwallader, his brother, took it over in 1936 when it became involved in some tax sale litigation.

Except for the year that it was being rebuilt in 1901, the mill has been in continuous operation ever since it was started by Thomas Yardley, a record that probably isn't matched by any present day business enterprise. And until the sale last week, the mill had remained in one family.

The mill still operates on water power, a factor which makes for economical operation.

The Pine Run Farm Supply Company plans to continue present operations. It has been in business in Doylestown and Hatboro for a number of years. Daniel Hirstad of Doylestown is president of the firm and John Lawson is vice president. George Smith is manager of the Yardley Mill with Dominick Rosie of Trenton as office manager.

Cadwallader retained ownership of a warehouse at Woodbourne which he operated in conjunction with the mill.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Samuel Gaskell
Pastor
Tullytown Methodist Church

It is said that a man once went to Mr. Moody, and said: "If you will answer this list of questions I will become a Christian." Moody replied: "If you will become a Christian to-night, and come to me to-morrow I will try to answer every question on your list." The man said: "Sir I will come." That night the man accepted Jesus as his Saviour. The next morning he sought out the great evangelist, his face shining, and said: "Mr. Moody, you need not bother about my questions, they have all been answered."

Come with your questions, your burdens, and your sins to Him who said: "Come unto Me," and all will be solved.

55-YARD DRIVE WINS FOR BRISTOL JR. HIGH ELEVEN

A sustained drive of 55-yards, climaxing in a touchdown, gave the Bristol Junior High eleven its first win of the season yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field as it beat the George School Junior High eleven, 6-0.

The Bristol team started the march on its 45. Larry Cohen got off on a 20-yard run with Sid Taylor getting 15. Digiralamo and Dugan carried the ball to the ten. Taylor hit the line for 9 yards. Gene Dugan scored the TD on a fake reverse. "Bill" Marshall's kick for the extra point was blocked.

George School got as far as the Bristol 16-yard line in the first session and was up to the 3-yard line in the second quarter but Bristol held on each occasion. Late in the second session, Freeman intercepted a pass for George School on the Bristol 35. An end run by Woodall carried the ball to the 25 and a pass, Newman to Nelson, made it a first down on the Bristol 15 as the half ended.

For Controller Howard G. Krupp

twice been enthusiastically returned to it by the voters.

Mr. Krupp was born July 11, 1901, in Chalfont, where he has lived all his life. His parents are Howard W. and Mary W. Krupp. He attended grade schools in Chalfont, and graduated from Lansdale High School in 1918. During his school days he became interested in dramatics, and later served as director and interlocutor for minstrel shows of the Chalfont Fire Company.

Finishing High School in the midst of the First World War, Mr. Krupp took a "fill-in" job with the Reading Railroad Company, expecting soon to be in service. When the war ended shortly thereafter, the "fill-in" job turned into a twenty-three year position, which he left only when appointed County Controller. With the Reading, he rose to be in charge of truck freight claims of the Reading Transportation company, a subsidiary, and eventually went into special accounting for the railroad.

This background gave him outstanding qualifications for his Bucks County position. He organized the office from scratch, and has given it the benefits of the most modern cost-accounting systems. Because of his success in this work, his advice has frequently been sought for the problems of other counties. He has held the positions of treasurer, first vice-president and president of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Controllers.

He has long been active in the affairs of both the county as a whole and his own community. He organized the first Young Republicans Club in Bucks County in Chalfont, in 1938. During the war he was Chalfont Chairman for all War Bond Drives and in the speakers bureau of the National War Fund Drives. He is past president and now the secretary of the Lions Club in Chalfont, and is assistant treasurer of the Bucks County Council of Boy Scouts.

Mr. Krupp is a member of the Doylestown Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, of which he is past master; of the Lehigh Consistory, Allentown; of Lulu Temple, Philadelphia; and of the Knights of the joined by Borough Council to that position in December, 1947.

After attending Bristol Schools, he took courses at the Rider, Moore and Stewart Business College in Trenton, and the Police College of Business Administration in Philadelphia. For many years he was employed by the Farmers National Bank of Bristol, rising to the position of assistant cashier.

From 1937 to 1947 he represented the First Ward in Council, serving on the Finance and Public Property, and the Health and Sanitation Committees.

On September 14, 1914, he married Miss Marie Minister, of Bristol. They have a son, Franklin L. Fine, a granddaughter, Diana Lynn Fine, aged four, and a grandson, George William, aged two.

Mr. Fine's wide interest in Bristol affairs is reflected in a long list of memberships in local organizations, in many of which he has held office. He is treasurer of Bristol Lodge, No. 25, Free and Accepted Masons; former secretary and treasurer of the House Committee of Bristol Lodge, No. 270, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks; past president of the Pennsylvania Affiliated Exchange Clubs; past president of the Bristol Exchange Club; past president of the Bucks County Bankers' Association.

He is also a member of the Fraternal Order Patriotic American and a member of Bristol Fire Companies, No. 1 and No. 2. He is president of the Fidelity Building and Loan Association, treasurer of the Union Building and Loan Company, and treasurer of the Harriman Building Association.
